What About Social Credit in Canada?

This series is an explanation of the Douglas Social Credit Plan. Mr. Williams, (W.) a Social Credit advocate, is explaining the plan to his friend, Mr. Jones (J.). The scene is Mr. Williams' home, and the conversation takes place during an evening visit.

No. Two
W. "Now you agree that Production is O. K. That is, that we can produce a large proportion of what we need, remembering that there are some commodities that Canada cannot provide. Against this we have a surplus of a good many things, such as wheat and nickel, which we can exchange for imported commodities like rubber, tea or cotton. You are agreed on this?"

J. "Yes. It should be obvious to anyone."
W. "At the other end of the system is the consumer—the reason for all this production. Socially, the only object of production is consumption. Now consider the Canadian consumer. Do you think he wants things like automobiles, washing machines, radios, pure food, decent clothes, and so on. That is, does he want to live on as high a level as his means allow?"

J. "Sometimes higher!"
W. "Yes, of course, sometimes higher. Anyway, what you say is an admission that there is a demand for these products."

J. "Yes, of course. What are you driving at?"

W. "Well I admit my last few questions may have seemed rather pointless but I wanted to distinguish the modern civilized Canadian from such people as are content with what Nature herself provides, and with little effort on the part of the individual."

J. "Perhaps such people are as happy."

W. "Yes, they may be. But we have to face the facts embodied in the desires of the modern Canadian citizen."

Now then, can we put O.K. on the side represented by the term Consumption?"

J. "Yes, I think it is safe to say that in Canada, at least, the average man takes advantage of everything new which technical science can offer him. That is, he buys all he can afford, and under the instalment plan he often mortgages the future to obtain present satisfaction."

"O. K. Now don't start a sermon until we get this thing straightened out."

J. "Well, where are we now?"

W. "We're ready to decide wherein the trouble lies. You have agreed that Production and Consumption, so far as ability to produce, and desire to consume go, are O.K. But present conditions show that there is something which comes between the ability to produce and the desire to consume, so that the consumer is prevented from taking anything like full advantage of the country's capacity to produce what he wants. Now then, what is the thing that makes goods from the land of Production to the land of Consumption—if I may picture it that way?"

J. "Money."

W. "Short and sweet. You said it. Money, or better call it 'Finance,' because we want all the various types of purchasing power included and if we say 'money,' then the tendency is to think in terms of tangible tokens called currency."

J. "Steady now. You're be-

Sam Dyson took about 20 Second Ward Deacons and Scouts over to Lethbridge on Saturday where they had a swim and a big time in the Y.M.C.A. This is the second trip the boys have had this winter.

Beginning to talk like the economic text books. I know "tangible" means something that can be touched or handled, but why apply that term to currency tokens?

W. "That's the trouble with this blessed subject. There are so many loose ends that one must keep gathering up. By doing so we stray from the main subject and further complicate the explanation. However, I'll explain that term before we go on. I use the word 'tangible' to refer to money in the form of dollar bills, silver coins, and coppers, which pass unquestioned from hand to hand, and I want to distinguish them from other forms of money like cheques and bills of exchange."

J. "But . . ."

W. "Now, wait a minute. Don't let us stray away from our original subject. I promise you we'll discuss this money angle thoroughly when we come to it."

J. "All right. But I shall keep the question in my mind."

W. O.K. but let's get back to the main story. If consumer and producer, at least so far as desire and ability go, are O. K. then it is logical to say that the trouble must be in the third factor, money. That is, unless you can find that it too, is irreproachable, in which case we shall have to ascribe our troubles to natural laws over which man has no control. As an ordinary sane individual I take it that you would hardly want to go outside the economic trouble before you had thoroughly examined this third factor—Money."

J. "Of course not. Let us investigate what you call 'The Money factor.'"

News Notes

Jacks Forbes is the proud owner of one of the latest model Ford V8 Tudor Sedan. It is very attractive looking.

Elders Arthur Dahl and S. I. May were in Stirling Sunday afternoon on Genealogical and Returned Missionary work. They met the Ward Genealogical Committee there.

Owing to the Town Hall being occupied Monday evening with a re-organization meeting of the Town Council, the band held their practice in the rotunda of the Second Ward Chapel.

Mr. Weigh, a horse buyer from Saskatchewan, was in Raymond and district last Monday and Tuesday, and purchased a few horses. Generally, however, high offers were too low for owners to consider parting with their horses for.

One of the latest model Plymouths was seen here Monday and was the center of considerable interest. With the flexible knee action, and many other improvements, it really looks nifty.

Speakers at the Raymond First Ward Sunday evening last were Elders Donald Wilde and Ernest Bullock. Mrs. Wilde also contributed a vocal solo. Other musical numbers were: Male Quartette, F. R. Taylor and Co. Duett, the little McLean sisters, and a vocal duett by Mrs. L. D. King and Mrs. J. H. Walker. The meeting was enjoyed greatly by the large audience.

Welling News

The Mutual presented the play "Paddy Makes Things Hum", to a crowded house Friday night, and the children were all present to the Matinee in the afternoon. The drama was presented in a very pleasing manner, and those taking part are to be congratulated.

Mrs. Vern Peterson underwent an operation in Lethbridge. From all reports she is feeling fine and her many friends are hoping for a speedy recovery.

Miss Walker's room held a very enjoyable entertainment on Wednesday. Valentines innumerable were distributed. Many who are too young to attend school, came and caught the spirit of Valentine Day.

Rumor has it that Welling's popular storekeeper, will assume the title of Postmaster. For people who are unable to make the trip into Raymond very often, this will be very handy. Let us hope that the officials in charge will see it that way.

Leslie Chipman has had an attack of blood-poisoning, but is feeling fine again now.

The scout movement is well under way in Welling now. Leslie Chipman is scoutmaster. For the boys it looks as though the summer is the most promising one in years.

No man, Woman or Child should miss "LITTLE WOMEN".

Constable Ellis of Mngraith was in Raymond on Thursday.

It's the most sublime picture of any year "LITTLE WOMEN" Capitol Monday Tuesday and Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Coope, spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cooper and family in Cardston, returning the middle of the week.

W. J. Kraft, Safeway Supervisor for Southern Alberta was a Raymond visitor on Tuesday of this week.

This weather feels pretty cold after six weeks of mild summery weather. It reminds us that we are still in Alberta.

The Annual Spring moving campaign is about ready to start, and folks will be moving around again.

The Young Liberals will be here for the last game of the Senior League on March 3, next week. It will be another nerve-racking game.

Tractors, cars and other machinery are undergoing their annual overhaul now in preparation for spring work.

The Annual Meeting of the Sugar City Municipality will be held in the Town Hall, Saturday at 1 p.m. The Financial Statement will be presented, and three new Councilmen will be elected.

Work started Monday on a new Social Hall being erected by the Hungarians of the town for their dances, socials, etc. It is being erected just east of the telephone office.

DeGum in particular, and the world in general, is mourning following the tragic death, while mountain climbing of Albert I. of that country. He made a great name for himself during the dark hours of the World War, and won the respect and admiration of all his son, Leopold III, aged 2, will succeed him.

Quite a number of Raymond people were at the Temple Wednesday for the Returned Missionary League Excursion. Lack of transportation kept many away, the car license proposition working a hardship on many. The cold weather was the cause of several rather amusing experiences with frozen radiators, etc., but everyone got home O.K. and enjoyed the day.

The United States authorities are pressing for conviction of alleged kidnapers, and are getting a confession every little while from some of them. The suicide of Fred Mayo, by hanging himself with his scarf in his cell, followed his confession of complicity in the kidnapping of John Factor. Another accomplice was arrested a little while before Mayo's death, or information gained from Mayo.

The Jacks obtained revenge for their defeat here of 1 point recently, when they went to Lethbridge last Friday night and defeated the Liberals with a 5 point margin. It was a great game, the score being tied 6 times throughout the encounter, but the locals put on a flourish toward the last, and won the battle. The boys all said, however, that it was a night of hard work.

Clear the decks for another great basketball battle Friday night when the famous Moose Domers from Calgary will be here to tangle with the Jacks.

In Lethbridge recently, the Moose were minus the services of some of their best guards, and suffered a severe trimming. We are informed that they will be here full strength this week end, and will be here to win.

The Jacks, after recently defeating Lethbridge on their own floor, and also by winning from Browning last Saturday, are in fine fettle and ready to take the visitors to a good swift game. We predict plenty of sped and action in both these games, and as to who will win, we hope the Jacks.

Preliminaries will be interesting and fast, and Humphries All-Stars have determined to take the Idlers to the cleaners, and the Idlers are determined they shall not. Let's see who wins. The Idlers-Taber game also promises plenty of excitement for the fans.

Games commence at 8 p.m. sharp. Don't be late, and bring your friends. The A.A.A. needs the dough, you need the excitement.

CANADA CLUB

Canada Maple Leafs, hoopers at Brigham Young university, flashed ahead in the last three minutes of play to down the league favorites, the California-Arizona five, and win 23-22 in Provo, Utah, Tuesday, February 6.

The Canadian lads dropped in the first two baskets and then trailed for most of the game as the rangy sharpshooters from the south combined fight and tallness to keep a small lead. With five minutes to go, Harris Walker broke through with a couple of difficult one-handed baskets and Shirley King added one to win over the team which dopesters had picked to triumph. Harris Walker was high-point man of the game with 12 counters and Toboz, guard for the California-Arizona team, did some pretty shooting to grab second place with nine points. Ten of the twelve men in both lineups were able to score.

The game was the third of a series of games played by geographic clubs of students attending Brigham Young university. In the two previous games the Maple Leaf lads won over Colorado, 70-2, and followed that one-sided affair by dropping one to the rangy French Missionaries, 34-26. The Canadians are the smallest team entered in the league, none of them over 6 ft. and none of the regular lineup over five feet ten. Many of the players on other teams are well over six feet, while the average is nearly an even half-dozen feet.

The lineup and score follows California-Arizona: Simmons, 2; Skauson, 5; Rigby, 2; Toboz, 9; Hart, 4.

Canada: H. Walker, 12; Forsyth, 2; F. Walker, 0; Pitcher, 2; King, 2; Cahoon, 5; Grow, 0. The Canada quintet are former high school and M Men players of Cardston and Raymond.

Remember "LITTLE WOMEN" Capitol next Mon., Tues. and Wednesday.

The Magrath High turned on the steam last Friday night, and whipped the local squad by the one-sided score of 40-12, or something like that. The guards held the team to one long field basket, shot by Smellie Edd and our boys are still trying to figure it all out.

WEEKLY LETTER

Variety testing is a main part of the horticultural work at the Lethbridge Experimental Station and the results obtained over a period of years should, it is believed, provide dependable guidance in selecting varieties of vegetables and fruits for Southern Alberta. This week's letter offers a list of varieties of staple vegetables and hardier varieties of fruits that have been tested here and which are recommended. In valuating the varieties tested yield has been considered though main emphasis has been given to quality, earliness and hardiness. Variety test results obtained at Lethbridge may be safely applied to very nearly all of Southern Alberta. The main exception possibly is in the foothill area and around Calgary, extending almost as far as Vulcan to the south and Gleichen to the east, where on account of the higher altitudes temperatures during the growing season are somewhat lower than in the lower areas of the prairies. Even in this area however the varieties listed below are to be recommended with the exception of the late varieties of potatoes and corn. Only the earlier varieties of potatoes such as Irish Cobbler and earlier varieties of corn could be safely recommended as main crops in this area.
